Kelly,

Your complaint has been received and reviewed. After review I have determined that you have made some valid points. Given that briefing started later than scheduled the launch window should have also been moved. However, no competitor including yourself requested such an extension. I can't in good conscience completely waive your penalty because there is a high probability that another competitor may have not moved to a better launch location to maintain the ability to launch within the window. Completely waiving your penalty would be unfair to any competitor who made calculated decisions based on the validity of the launch window. Therefore my decision is to reduce all late launch penalties by 50%. Going forward please don't hesitate to ask for extensions during briefing if you feel like more time is needed.
